Wood Products

Although the Northwest's timber industry has shrunk over the years, it's still a key component of the region's economy. With the contraction in supply—and jobs—the relationship between, and viability of, private timberland owners and wood products companies has become more vital than ever. Cosgrave provides personalized legal services to timber owners and processors, such as:

- Business formation
- Purchase and sale advice
- Real estate transactions
- Succession and estate planning
- Tax counsel
- Timber cutting and sale contracts
