Law Practice

Kyle's practice focuses on tort litigation including premises liability, products liability, professional liability, personal injury, and dram shop law. Kyle has also represented general contractors and subcontractors in construction cases. Kyle has both arbitration and trial experience, and achieved a defense verdict in a Washington tribunal on behalf of a general contractor after a four day trial. He has also achieved early dismissal for his clients through summary judgment motions on premises liability, product liability, and common law negligence claims in Oregon Circuit Court. When cases haven't been dismissed early, Kyle has achieved favorable results for his clients in binding and non-binding arbitration.
